

E1-N | Startup, equity and ownership native entries

Stable N01-N14 and N24-N33 retained. N15-N23 and the 2022 reserve-loan account remain held out as a whole. N24 ends mid-sentence in the native export; the separate follow-ups are now directly recovered in I2-C. Source hashes differ from some historical retained hashes; new bytes and locators are recorded here.

Selected export entries, retypeset directly from recovered JSON. Original language and typos are retained. Character encoding repaired from Latin-1-wrapped UTF-8 where applicable; unsupported pictographs are visibly rendered as [emoji]; raw bytes preserved internally. Display aliases are mapped to the parties, not independently certified identities. Pacific dates are derived from native epoch milliseconds. These are readable source derivatives, not platform screenshots, complete threads or a forensic authenticity certification.

Private identities and details are omitted or visibly replaced. No yellow highlighting. A newly recovered export hash must not be represented as the hash of the older retained source.

When I say improvements, that includes the lawn. Also, all of these you don't have to pay me back. I only ask for your share of mortgage and general utilities. The business will pay me back. I am taking a huge financial risk here without the expectation of you paying me back. The business will pay me back when we make profit. If this fails, I lose all my money. So having said that, I want to clarify how involved you want to be in this operation. If you stay passive in decision making and administrative responsibilities, it will be hard for you to understand why you have to spend money to make money. I will give you the breakdown ig off nako. I want this to be a partnership with specific roles and responsibilities and we all have to contribute to the success of this business.

Don't worry about the other expenses, I will pay for it. You just pay for share of mortgage and utilities (gas, elec, sewer, garbage, water, wifi, etc). Outside of that, depende if mu agree mo na mag tuwa for a particular expense. The rest I will recoup when we make money. Of course I would like to make sure we make a profit para naay return atong na invest. But we can't make that profit until our house meets standard. Naa daghan work to do and it cost money. It has to meet code, be safe and look nice. That's what I'm working on. I know everytime I tell you something all you hear is $$$$. It's true, but we have to spend it, to make $$$$. Instead borrowing from the bank (which has a lot of costs), the business is borrowing from me.

te ara, since na establish nana na inyuha ng house, then of course inyuha na ang downpayment and renovations na nka benefit ang inyu business so wala nami ana ok.. ang financial risk sad namo ky dba because of SC,

- conventional (higher interest rate) among pag buy sa cabin ky naa sa SC ang FHA loan (lower interest rate) so yes nag pay mi more sa mortgage..

2. approved for refinance na unta mi last year that would have made our interest rate for 6. something to 5. something and wouldv made our mortgage lesser, and skip mortgage for nov-dec'24 (8200$) we had our share of financial risks pd.. eventhough u thnk na it's "imaginary" underwriting stage na to and wouldv been approved if not for SC.. so pls stop saying na nawng mig kwarta.. naa pd mi dghan na loss na opportunities and so it would b unfair na ma loss pa jd among na spend na d kami nka pahimulos..

also, with SC in our name, our debt to income ration was very high so our interest rates when we got our cars, cabin etc, taas pud.. so yes, naa sd mi financial risk..

So, if it weren't for us and our FHA qualification, SC would not have secured the 2.75% interest rate. You would have been paying significantly more than the $1,000 you've been voluntarily contributing.

Meanwhile, we had to take a much higher rate of 6.75% on our own home, simply because we used our FHA eligibility for SC instead. That decision cost us thousands over time, savings we forfeited so this arrangement could happen in the first place.

So while we acknowledge your monthly contributions, it's important to recognize that our involvement and credit made a major financial difference from the start, saving far more than what was paid out monthly. That fact should be part of any fair and honest conversation about what's truly equitable.

After consulting with our attorney, it was strongly advised that we have a legitimate and enforceable claim to equity from the final sale of the house. Our lawyer is fully aware of all the buyers' claims, including the $40,000 initial downpayment, the additional $100,000+ in renovations, and the $1,000/month rental income. We understand that you believe we have already been compensated through the property itself. However, our attorney firmly disagrees.

The facts remain clear: we contributed a significant portion toward the original down payment and used our own credit and finances to secure the mortgage. These contributions establish our right to fair and proportionate compensation, compensation that has not been met.

That said, in the interest of resolving this matter and closing this chapter, we have chosen to amicably accept your offer, with one condition: the buyers will cover all fees related to the settlement, including legal fees, in the amount of $3,000. For clarity and in alignment with your offer, we acknowledge that we will not receive any net profit from the transaction. If there are any remaining funds after settlement, they will be promptly refunded to you.

With this decision made, we respectfully ask that you allow us our peace.

To ensure complete transparency with our family, we are attaching all receipts related to the down payment, as well as records of all relevant communications. This documentation speaks for itself and reinforces that we have acted with honesty and fairness. We hope this brings clarity and reinforces that we deserve the respect, integrity, and peace we are asking for.

Thank you.

What? After all the emotional trauma, the bullying, the gaslighting, and repeated harassment, we are shocked that you would still think we would agree to a quit claim. Absolutely not. That is no longer, and never again will be, an option on the table.

Unfortunately, we cannot and will not extend beyond August 4, 2025.

We've bent over backward, waited through delays, endured manipulation, and tolerated more than enough. This is our final line.

We have chosen to move forward with this matter civilly and professionally, because we are choosing to take the higher road.

We agreed to your terms, including the closing date of July 20, 2025, in good faith. Now, we have a rare opportunity to purchase our dream home with a locked-in 4.99% interest rate. Our original closing date was July 25, based on the expectation that Silver Creek would close as planned. We were fortunate to be given an extension until August 5, and we've already paid $8,500 in earnest money to hold that offer and one of the builder's conditions for receiving the rate and incentives is that we have to close the Silver Creek prior to our closing date. Without doing so, we do not qualify. If we miss this window, we will lose the interest rate and benefits and be forced into the current market rate of 6.8-7%, making the new home unaffordable.

So let's be clear: your delays, your refusal to engage in good faith, and your attempts to manipulate this process are not just disappointing, they are actively sabotaging our future.

You once said, "What goes around comes around," and "Your greatest fears will come true." Well, consider those words returned. The difference is, we aren't acting out of arrogance, we are simply standing firm in truth and justice.

We have laid out three fair and final options for resolution. You must respond by July 25. We will also be consulting our lawyer regarding your recent actions and any further interference.

This situation should serve as a lesson, about integrity, about humility, and about consequences. Arrogance and aggression won't carry you forward forever.

Subject: Silver Creek Property – Final Resolution Options

Ara and Romeo,

First and foremost, we are sorry to hear about your lender backing out at the last minute and while it is unfortunate, we have to move forward. we are offering the following three clear options.

As we've consistently communicated, our mutual goal is to remove our names from the title AND mortgage. We have extended multiple considerations at your request and given every opportunity to make this work. The next step is now fully in your hands.

OPTION 1: Reinstate 50/50 Ownership with Immediate Lease Agreement

Revert to the original ownership structure under the previously discussed terms:

- 50/50 ownership with rental income.
- A formal lease agreement will take effect immediately.
- When you're ready to purchase the property in the future, the sale will be based on the then-current market value.
- Both parties will be reimbursed based on actual documented financial contributions, and the remaining equity will be divided equally.

Pros:

- Gives you additional time to secure financing.
- Maintains your shared interest and offers flexibility moving forward.
- Note: This structure may help support our lender's requirements (with rental income), though approval is not guaranteed. We can try to request another extension from them, but there is no assurance it will be granted.

OPTION 2: Proceed with Current Purchase Agreement

Proceed as originally agreed in the Purchase and Sale Agreement, with a closing date of July 20, 2025. However, in consideration of your situation, we are extending this deadline to August 4, 2025.

Please note, we cannot extend beyond that date, as we are closing on our own new home on August 5, with a favorable locked-in rate of 4.99%. Delaying any further puts our own plans at risk.

OPTION 3: Sell the Property

You may find a new buyer or we can list the property ourselves. From there, you are free to negotiate your own terms directly with them.

Background Summary (Clarification)

To clarify the history and correct any misunderstandings:

- Initial Agreement: Aileen and Jun signed for the property as Ara and Romeo were not eligible to be on the title at the time due to financing limitations. It was not by our choice not to add them but it was a matter of eligibility tied to FHA rules and loan qualifications.

- Down Payment: We contributed to the down payment. Romeo's own text message acknowledged "don't put downpayment," and instead requested an "I Owe U." This contradicts the claim that Ara and Romeo paid it all.
- Business Agreement: There was never a written or formal agreement regarding a joint Adult Family Home business. This was a discussion that did not materialize.
- Rental Terms: After conflict arose, particularly after Romeo's emotional response, we agreed to lease the property at $4,600/month. This lease was not a contribution toward ownership, it was a rental agreement. Additionally, we agreed to a $1,000/month supplement, again as rent, not as equity payment.
- Crystal Ridge Proposal: You proposed to sell Crystal Ridge to us at $830,000, despite market comps capping closer to $700,000. We did not agree. Shortly after, you claimed you owned Silver Creek and used our name solely for acquisition. This was never disclosed nor agreed upon.

Final Request

We are committed to resolving this matter respectfully but efficiently. Please respond with your decision by July 25, 2025. Failure to respond or further delays will be taken as a refusal to cooperate, and we will explore all available legal remedies at that point.

Sincerely,
Aileen & Jun

At that point, you will have two options to choose from:

OPTION 1: Reinstate 50/50 Ownership with Immediate Lease Agreement

Revert to the original ownership structure under the previously discussed terms:

- 50/50 ownership with rental income.
- A formal lease agreement will take effect immediately.
- When you're ready to purchase the property in the future, the sale will be based on the then-current market value.
- Both parties will be reimbursed based on actual documented financial contributions, and the remaining equity will be divided equally.

Pros:

- Gives you additional time to secure financing.
- Maintains your shared interest and offers flexibility moving forward.
- Note: This structure may help support our lender's requirements, though approval is not guaranteed. We can try to request another extension from them, but there is no assurance it will be granted.

OPTION 3: Sell the Property

You may find a new buyer or we can list the property ourselves. From there, you are free to negotiate your own terms directly with them.

Unya kinsa kaha ang di kapalit ug balay ug dili i-contingent sa amoa? Di pod nako sala kung di mo ma approve. Blaming us for your poor DTI when you have a lease agreement that more than covers the mortgage? Do you know math? You have $1,000 over your monthly liability? How's that a negative? That's supposed to help you. And I don't need to prove anything to you. Who are you fooling? Maybe look at your credit score and credit card debts, your credit card debts that you wanted to borrow money for to pay off. We are not responsible for your misfortunes and bad financial decisions. Stop using other people as your scapegoats. You are where you are because of your decisions.

Or whether people have real thoughts or if they are just regurgitating these big words to make them look “big”.

Don't pretend nga gi daug2x mo when everyone in this group knows who has the real power to destroy the other party - yet pretend they are victims. You two have been playing us all these years to bend to your demands anytime you want, because you're holding our business hostage. You may have the title now but you never ever showed interest nor until it started making profit. So you just waltz in and now you want demand 50%. Didn't you just say you have no financial interest in it? What version of truth is this now? You walk away from the obligations yet expect to be entitled to 50% without lifting a finger?

Speak about twisting the narrative even when it's making no sense at all. Where in the world would this ever make sense? Now you want me to bend the knee and beg that you don't sell SC to anyone? You know what happens if you do that? So August 4, or else what? You threaten us to sell/list it in the market again? Why?

What are you gonna do? Destroy our livelihood?! Do you understand the ramifications of what you're doing here? Someone put some sense into these two's heads please.
